

A hand-drawn architectural floor plan on aged, yellowed paper. The plan depicts a rectangular room with a central square feature, possibly a fireplace or a small square room, which is divided into four quadrants by diagonal lines. The room is bounded by a thick line representing a wall or boundary. On the left side, there is a small rectangular structure, possibly a chimney or a small room, with a diagonal line extending from it. The plan includes several annotations: the number '215' is written near the top right corner, '145' is written near the bottom right corner, and '26' is written near the bottom center. There are also some small circles and lines indicating specific points or features. The drawing is done in black ink on a light-colored background.

